The 4th KAGRA International Workshop

June 29-30, 2018

Ewha Womans University, Seoul

The KAGRA International Workshop (KIW) replaced binational meetings between Japan and participating countries in order to promote more active collaboration within international community. The first KIW was held at Korea Institute for Science and Technology Information (KISTI, <http://www.kisti.re.kr/eng>) located in Daejeon, Korea in June 2016. Subsequent workshops were held in Beijing (November 2016) and in Taipei (May 2017). The main theme of the KIW centers on the KAGRA project, but also encompasses all related fields such as other gravitational wave experiments, gravitational wave sciences, and multi-messenger astronomy. Everybody interested in contributing to the KAGRA project and gravitational wave science in general is welcome to join the meeting.
